Foreword

"We sing thus together, Our hearts all in tune . . ."

Just as the beauty of a song depends not so much upon the individual notes as upon the melody they produce, so college life is more than a personal experience. The song is formed by all the students; the presence or absence of melody depends upon the contribution of each. A combination of tones is needed to give us harmony. The tones are but contributing material; they must be systematically arranged to provide music, for sound without organization is mere noise.

College life is a brief movement in the greater symphony of life: just four years, and then the opportunity is gone forever. The notes scatter and go their separate ways. The song passes, to be revived and revised by the next generation.

A song must be sung or played to reveal its true value; notes on a page have little real meaning. We have tried to capture the song of MacMurray in prose and in pictures for your record. We realize that our score can never truly depict the experiences of college days. We offer this book only to refresh your memory when the melody begins to fade. But the song must always be sung by you—the students.

The McClellands

"Dr. Mac," as the able administrator of our college, and Mrs. McClelland, as the hostess and coordinator of activities, have established a close friendship between the chief executive and the student body of the college.

THE DEANS

Mrs. Marjorie J. Cunningham, now in her third year as Assistant Dean of Students and Director of Residences, also finds time to plan and supervise the S.O.S. program and conduct orientation classes; and serve as adviser to the sophomore class, counselor to half of the students, and general chairman of the dining hall committee.

Mrs. Roma N. Hawkins has a full schedule as Dean of Students, adviser to the ILLIWOCO, Students Association, YWCA, junior class, campus societies, and fire captain, and chairman of the permanent schedule committee. Her other activities include supervising the social life of the campus, offering counsel to half of the students and lecturing to orientation classes.

Mrs. Marjorie Cunningham

Dr. Wendell Dysinger

Mrs. Roma Hawkins

Harold E. Gibson

Mr. Harold E. Gibson, who is Director of Admissions and Public Relations, is a name familiar to all students, prospectives, and parents. Mr. Gibson also acts as adviser to the Greetings and the ILLIWOCO.

E. Clarendon Smith

Mr. Clarendon Smith, MacMurray's business manager, is responsible for the maintenance of the college's physical plant, the employment of non-academic personnel, control of the budget, the purchasing of all supplies and the paying of all bills.

Administration officers enjoy the R.A.picnic for freshmen.

Mr. Busche signals for the song to begin.

The faculty enjoyed Club 13, too.

"Oh, Most Worshipful Professor . . . "

No student, as she watches members of the faculty process in their academic robes, can fail to be impressed by the brilliant array of hoods and gold tassels. But their attire is only a symbol of the years of study and preparation they have undergone. Through traveling, as Dr. Moore's and Dr. Gamper's trips to Europe last summer; through further college work, as Mr. Hansen's summer of study at the University of Wisconsin; or through independent research, they continue to learn and improve even as they teach. And they are available to the students socially as well as academically.

We have a distinguished faculty. Some have authored text-books in their field, and Dr. Shine, in collaboration with his wife, has recently published a book, "The Quarterly Review Under Gifford." Mr. Guy has made a name for himself in the field of art, Dr. Hendrickson is an acknowledged authority on David Dale Owen.

We have a public-spirited faculty. The members contribute to community services, address meetings, sponsor drives, belong to clubs and organizations. They plan and supervise programs for the handicapped, and they auction their services during the community chest drive. Six men members of the faculty made their debuts as singing waiters at the Kiwanis pancake supper February 13. On campus they are more than classroom instructors; they are counsellors and advisers. They also participate in extra-curricular activities as do the students. This summer Dr. Holcombe is planning and chaperoning a trip to Europe for a group of Mac students.

We have a faculty of individuals. They look forward to Friday and long for vacations just as fervently as any student. They have their moods and interests. They, too, have their fun. Every other year, the faculty presents a show for the students. Faculty members are often called upon to present a reading or speech for a school program.

We have a faculty we can well be proud of. It forms an integral part of our college life.

Graduate School Offers Advanced Work

Because of the unusual facilities of Jacksonville and the great need for child welfare workers, MacMurray College established, seven years ago, a graduate school for work with handicapped children. Dr. Halverson, director, cooperates with the Illinois State Department of Public Welfare, the School for the Deaf, the School for the Blind, the Jacksonville State Hospital, all in this city, the State School and Colony for the Feeble-minded in Lincoln, and the Institute of Juvenile Research in Chicago to provide the student with practical application and experience. The school has since grown to include work in several departments. This year there are twelve students enrolled in graduate studies. Eight are working for their master's degree in psychology: Mrs. Helen P. Jeffery, of Springfield, Mass., graduated from the American International College; Miss Billie Morton of Matthews, N. C., from Queens College; Miss Edith Strieter, Chicago, from Valparaiso University; Miss Rita Wetzel, Waukegan, from Lake Forest College; Robert Adamson, Worcester, Mass., from Dartmouth College; Miss Barbara Hoffman, Los Angeles, from the University of Southern California; Miss Jane Lewis, Springfield, from Northwestern University; Miss Kay Mallers, Bluffton, Ind., from MacMurray College. Four are working for their advanced degrees in physical education: Miss Marjorie Mack, Washington, Pa., from the University of Pittsburgh; Miss Marilyn Kasishke, South Haven, Mich., from Western Michigan College of Education; Miss Mary Leonard, Somerville, Mass., from Radcliffe College; Miss Beverly Smith, Canton, Ohio, from Bowling Green University.

"Burn the dying embers low and end the year too soon."

Seated: Sharane Reddick.
Standing: Muriel Knudsen, Mrs. Cleeland, Barbara Dixon, Evelyn Sebastian, Bobbie Griffith.

On Senior Recognition Day a solemn but proud group of seniors made its debut in cap and gown, and thus began its last year "here at MacMurray." Soon the calendar was crowded with senior events. Parents were feted at the Senior Tea, November 5, which was planned by Mary Million. Members of the class ushered in Thanksgiving with a sunrise serenade through the dorms. Jane Morrison was chosen by Fred MacMurray to reign over the Senior Ball, November 26, with her court, Mary Million and Vivian Lynch. Edys Morrow, chief planner of this affair, used the colors yellow and green to carry out the theme, "Contrast." Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra provided the music. In December eight seniors were elected to "Who's Who."

The second semester saw the finale of college life rapidly approaching. The seniors entertained their sister class with table parties and a serenade on Sophomore Recognition Day. Early one morning they sneaked off to St. Louis for a day of shopping and entertainment, leaving the juniors to taste of senior privileges. With the advent of spring the "green grass for commencement" campaign began in earnest. Jo Shade was chosen chairman of the May Day activities, and Pat Miller supervised Dad's Day plans. Class president was Sharane Reddick.

Despite exhibits, recitals, comprehensives and concentration papers, the seniors found time to be guests of honor at the many parties that came in the last few months. Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Cunningham entertained the seniors at their annual party, April 28. The Senior Dinner was given May 20. Commencement activities began Friday, May 26, with the Lantern Drill and the crowning of the May Queen. On Sunday graduation and the last senior circle sounded the final notes on a year that ended too soon.

Who's Who Recognizes Outstanding Seniors

"Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" is a composite list of students, throughout the country, who are outstanding in their class and in their school. MacMurray's candidates were chosen by the Legislative Board, which represents all campus organizations. The names were submitted to the national organization of Who's Who for approval and subsequent publication in their annual book. This year eight seniors were elected to this honor. They were Barbara Griffith, President of Belles Lettres; Joan Lint, S. A. Judicial Director; Catherine Lockridge, S. A. President; Ann Mellinger, YWCA President; Jane Morrison, SOS Chairman; Betsy Simms, R. A. President; Sharane Reddick, Senior Class President; and Nancy Wheeler, First Vice-President of S. A.

"Knowledge, Faith and Service Shall Our Motto Ever Be."

Each spring Honor Chapel is climaxed by the Cap and Gown ceremony on the steps of Old Main. At this time the retiring members present to their successors the rose of friendship, the sisterly kiss, and the mortar board of honor. This year's Cap and Gown members were Kitty Lockridge, S.A. president; Barbara Griffith, B. L. president; Elizabeth Simms, R. A. president; Sharane Reddick, Senior Class president; and Jane Gay Fairbank, business manager of the radio station.

Standing: Carolyn Jack, Joyce Cahill, Martha Lucas, Sue Kaldahl.

"The friendships we've learned to cherish ..."

The juniors began the year by unanimously electing Margaret Leaverton as their president. Other officers were vice-president, Carolyn Jack, first semester; Paula Haga, second semester; secretary, Martha Lucas; and treasurer, Joyce Cahill. Sue Kaldahl was R. A. representative. During freshman initiation the juniors were responsible for seeing that the freshmen kept their green ribbons clean and pressed. Pat Green was chairman of the coffees which were given throughout the year to acquaint the juniors with their sister class. On Junior Recognition Day, December 6, Marilyn Miles received the Conlee-Kent cup. A preview of next year came on Senior Cut Day, when the juniors took advantage of senior privileges. President and Mrs. McClelland entertained them at the junior luncheons February 25 and March 4.

Peg Street reigned as Princess of the Junior Prom, "Fantasy in Frost" on February 18. Her court included Marilyn McGinnis and Marilyn Miles, attendants, Marion Veath, dance chairman, and Margaret Leaverton, class president. In the spring the class followed a traditional custom and sang Easter hymns through the dorms, published the ILLIWOCO, presented a project, and performed the lantern drill for the May Queen. The year was climaxed at the last chapel, when the members of the class moved into the seniors' places.

Marilyn Miles Awarded Conlee-Kent Cup

Miss Marilyn Miles

On Junior Recognition Day, Marilyn Miles was awarded the Conlee-Kent Cup, given each year to the junior who, during her sophomore year, best exemplified the college ideals of knowledge, faith, and service. Marilyn, a speech major from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, has been all-around in her activities. During her freshman year she was class secretary, appeared in R. U. R. and in her freshman society play, and joined MacMurray Players. As a sophomore she was initiated into the National Collegiate Players and pledged Phi Nu. She was a member of the radio staff, directed the Little Theatre opening, and played one of the leading roles in The Glass Menagerie. Besides being on the WMMC staff this year, Marilyn writes a radio column for the "Greetings," serves as secretary of Y. W. C. A., and works as junior hostess in the dining hall.

"May our future at Mac be the best"

This year's freshman class saw the birth of a new tradition: the "gluh." The members cooperated wholeheartedly with the sophomores in formulating a new and successful initiation plan. On October 15, the freshmen dressed as "forty-niners," presented their society skits, and burned their green ribbons. "Gluh Girls," chosen because of famous last names, replaced the once familiar Black List.

In November the class entertained the juniors with a coffee and decorated the dining hall for Thanksgiving dinner. In December it "recognized" its sister class with table parties and a serenade. In February members of the class presented their project, "Checker Board Follies," with chairman Ann Noonan; and a group of them formed the honor line for the Junior Prom Princess. The freshmen were formally recognized in February and presented their class dance in April.

Lois Brock was elected to preside over her classmates this year. Other officers included Jane Lawrence, vice-president; Margaret Halenza, secretary; Martha Wright, treasurer; Ann Noonan and Nedra Fleming, S. A. representatives. Mrs. Anderson was the class adviser.

Housemothers Offer Sympathy and Guidance

First row: Mrs. Walraven, Mrs. Blount, Mrs. Bayliss, Mrs. Sargent. Second row: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Anderson.

We are all conscious of the services rendered by our housemothers, who not only supervise our dormitory life but prove willing sources of guidance and counsel. The freshmen have three housemothers: Mrs. Fanny Anderson for third Main, Mrs. Ferree Sargent for second Main, and Mrs. Mabel Smith for Harker Hall. This is the first year at MacMurray for Mrs. Anderson, who has three daughters and a son of her own. Besides her duties as housemother, Mrs. Anderson is freshman class adviser. Mrs. Sargent, whose daughter graduated from MacMurray in 1943, has served as a housemother for nine years. Mrs. Smith also has an alumna in her family. This year there are two assistant housemothers for Main Hall. Miss Harriet Bertoglio, who graduated from Mac in 1948, is now teaching in the chemistry department as well as assisting Mrs. Anderson on third Main. Mrs. Jane Marx, assistant on second Main, is completing her senior year with a major in psychology. The sophomores in Jane Hall are under the capable jurisdiction of Mrs. Lillian Blount, who has four years of experience to qualify her for her position. Mrs. Florence Baylis is known as "Mother B" to her wards in Kathryn Hall, and to all who have known her in her seven years at Mac. Besides being housemother of Rutledge, Mrs. Myrtle Walraven also serves as Director of Student Employment.

"Where the girls are all as one" carries an even deeper meaning in the Students Association, for self-government at MacMurray is achieved by the cooperative efforts of the entire student body. Its keynote is the fostering of an honor system in all relations of college life. Besides acting in an executive and legislative capacity in matters of conduct, the S.A. has touched every aspect of college life. In the belief that "charity begins at home," the Student Aid Fund was created for the benefit of foreign students in need of financial assistance. At Christmas time the S. A. provides Christmas trees for all the dorms, sponsors the freshman contest for tree decoration, and presents gifts to the college employees. It represents the student body in birthday greetings sent out to the administration. Much accessory equipment for the dorms is furnished by the S. A. One of its important projects is the annual revision and publication of the Brown Book, the students' handbook. Auctions for unclaimed articles in the lost-and-found department are sponsored by the S.A. Student president Kitty Lockridge presides over the Executive Board, which is composed of student officers representing each class. From the senior class are

Nan Wheeler and Fran Mahan, first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Joan Lint, judicial director; and Jane Morrison, S.O.S. chairman. Char Van Giesen, secretary, and Elvira Metzdorf, treasurer, represent the junior class. Sophomores serving on the Board are the presidents of Jane, Harker, and Main Halls: Jean McConahay, Allison Mahan, and Joan Thompson. Freshman representatives are Ann Noonan and Nedra Fleming.

Round Campus Activities

First row: Jackie Hicks, Marion Veath, Mary Ellen Potter, Ann Mellinger, Marilyn Miles, Shirley Dobbins, Lois Chin. Second row: Muriel Shennan, Margot Keltner, Jane Hallows.

Participation is the keynote of MacMurray's Y.W.C.A. In its effort to create and maintain a broader spiritual understanding, the Y.W. fosters a wide variety of religious and social projects, which utilize and appeal to the talents and interests of all students. Activities carried on throughout the year include arrangements for visits and the sending of cards to students who are ill, participation in nearby conferences and correspondence with other Y.W. organizations, and volunteer civic social service, such as leading girl scout troops.

Valentine's Day is given more emphasis and meaning by "Heart Sister Week." This year the Y.W. cooperated with WMMC in presenting a series of religious programs.

In May there was a breakfast and a cabin retreat for the old and new officers. Ann Mellinger, president, had as her cabinet this year: Mary Ellen Potter, vice-president; Marilyn Miles, secretary; Marion Veath, treasurer; Jane Hallows, social service; Margot Keltner, program; Muriel Shennan, social; Jackie Hicks, participating membership; Lois Chin, publicity; Shirley Dobbins, recorder; and Beverly Schulz, freshman representative.

Community Chest Holds November Drive

Representatives of the four classes compose the Campus Community Chest, which was headed this year by co-chairmen Mary Helen Wright and Jean Schussele. The money received from the annual drive held in November was distributed to CARE, FRIENDS, WSSF, and the Negro College Fund. Senior Pat Miller was Community Chest Queen following the inter-class contest.

Christian Life Committee

Supervises Emphasis Week

The Campus Christian Life Committee, under the guidance of its chairman, Jane Morrison, and its sponsor, Reverend McKendree Blair, planned and supervised Religious Emphasis Week during February 13-15. The members cilso cooperated with the YWCA in the sponsoring of religious activities throughout the year, such as the evening vespers held in the dorms and the devotional programs presented over the campus radio station, WMMC.

"The Play's the Thing"

MacMurray Players affords an opportunity of participation to those students who have demonstrated their interest and ability in the activities of the Little Theater. Its members are chosen from those of the student body who have cooperated in the production of plays during the season. Under the guidance of Dr. Holcombe, sponsor, and Esther Wilding, president, this organization has been active in all dramatic enterprises. The annual Little Theater opening is presented under the auspices of the MacMurray Players. In March of this year they sponsored Margaret Webster and her Shakespearian troupe in "The Taming of the Shrew." Esther was assisted this year by Carolyn Kimble, vice-president, and Connie Stokes, secretary-treasurer.

Seated: Connie Stokes, Carolyn Kimble, Esther Wilding, Muriel Knudsen.

Standing: Jean McConahay, Marilyn McGinnis, Marjorie Morrison, Elizabeth Kaster, Bebe Kay Lusher.

Membership in the MacMurray Chapter of the National Collegiate Players is based on scholarship and leadership in the activities of the Little Theater. Members meet each month to discuss current plays and theatrical subjects. Besides sponsoring the Freshman One-Act Play Contest, the National Collegiate Players carry much responsibility for campus productions.

This year there are five members. Marilyn Miles is the first student on campus to have met the requirements set up by the national organization during her sophomore year. The other members are Joan Shade, Sue Skinner, Barbara Griffith and Jane Morrison.

Here are the girls who spent over a year planning and working to bring you the 1950 ILLIWOCO. Barbara Brokaw was coordinator of efforts. She was assisted by Betty Weymueller, assistant editor; Jackie Hicks, copy editor; Mary Lou Schmausser, assistant; Jane Pickering, art editor; Martha Lucas and Roz Troncin, index editors; Billie Nadeau, sports editor; and Jeanne Berwick, organizations editor. Much of the typing, assistance during picture-taking, and copy-gathering was done by juniors who volunteered or were drafted throughout the year. Sophomore Liz Bullock took many of the informal snapshots. Dean Hawkins and Mr. Gibson served as advisers to the group.

In October Barb and Helen Van Emden, business manager, attended the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Detroit. By March the book was sent to the publishers, and the period of anxiety and assembling was ended. A successful enterprise was celebrated with a breakfast at the Dunlap, held for the staff in the spring.

Third row: Jean McCosker, Jane Pickering.

Virginia McNeil and Helen Van Emden, assistant business manager and business manager

Helen Van Emden managed this year's IJ LIWOCO business staff, whose chief concern was the financial obligations of compiling and printing our yearbook. It was the task of the staff members to sell advertising to local merchants, organize the advertising section of the book, and handle the money collected from advertisers, students, and campus organizations. Helen was assisted in this balancing of income and expenditures by Ginny McNeil, Anna Marie Johnson, Sue Gerhardt, Liz Kaster, Peg Street, Carol Fosdick, Billie Holcombe, Evy Haas, Nita Krueger, Carolyn Kimble, and Gert Metzdorf. Mr. Harold Gibson served as adviser to the staff.

Greetings Staff Keeps Students Posted

Third row: Sally Stark, Ann Noonan, Ollidene Weaver, Polly Ann Page, Bobbie Griffith, Muriel Knudsen, Marjorie Tubbs, Jean Schmidt.

It is the editorial policy of the "Greetings" to report accurately and thoroughly all events on campus, to reflect student opinion, to present current world problems, to keep the students informed and entertained. For its outstanding work, the "Greetings" has consistently received All-American and First Class ratings.

First semester editor Dione Moeller was assisted by Jean Burnett, copy editor; Pat Heiken, feature editor; Ollidene Weaver, columns editor; Joan Cresswell, art editor; Jean Schmidt, photographer; Pat Tomlin, sports; and Marjorie Tubbs, music. Jean Burnett and Pat Heiken served as co-editors second semester. Barb Brokaw was headline editor and assistant to Jean; Edith Ann Heitholt was news editor and assistant to Pat. Others on the staff were Jo Turner, feature editor; Sally Stark, columns editor; Liz Bullock, photographer; and Marjorie Tubbs and Pat Tomlin. A number of other students were reporters for various clubs and organizations throughout the year.

A new and more effective method of distributing survey blanks was introduced this year, and questions were chosen which pertained to current problems of campus life. In October, Diane Moeller and Pat Miller attended the A.C.P. convention in Detroit. A breakfast at the Dunlap was held in the spring for the editorial and business staffs of both semesters.

Their Problem is Finance and Circulation

All matters pertaining to the advertising, circulation, exchange and book-keeping for the MacMurray College "Greetings" fall under the direction of the business staff. Pat Miller served as business manager first semester. Claudia Preston was advertising manager, Lee Kington was in charge of the exchange of our paper with those of other schools, and Pat Holley was responsible for the circulation of the "Greetings." Those chosen by the retiring staff to fill their positions second semester were under the leadership of Claudia Preston, business manager. Yvonne Mason was advertising manager; Nancy Carver and Pat Holley, co-exchange managers; and Beverly Schulz, circulation manager.

A dual purpose is served by WMMC, MacMurray's radio station. As a campus community service, it provides music, campus and world news, entertainment, and information. It also serves as a workship for all students interested in radio. WMMC is a member of the Inter-Collegiate Broadcasting System.

Besides the old favorites, such as the 570 club, the College Shop, and the annual Christmas broadcast, new programs are continually developed to appeal to the changing interests and moods of the students. New features for this year include "Voice of the Campus," an interview of some outstanding resident or celebrity on campus; the "Musical Surprise Show," WMMC's give-away program, and "Faith of Our Youth," a religious devotional program.

Although twenty-five per cent of the student body participate in radio programs during the year, the major responsibility for maintaining the station rests with the staff. This year's staff included: Joan Shade, station manager; Julie Hamill, controls; Jean McConahay; announcer; Rosalind Bailey, continuity; Muriel Knudsen, music; Barbara Griffith, news; Pat Nelson, special events; Marilyn Miles, publicity; Jane Fairbank, business manager; Cathy Berg, filing clerk; and Val Schnarr, typist. Mr. Hansen is the adviser.

Interest and ability in creative writing form the criteria for membership in the Scribblers Club. Meetings are held twice a month to discuss and criticize original manuscripts of the members. Although there is a limited membership, try-outs are held each semester. The best writing of the members was presented at an open meeting which was broadcast over station WMMC on February 19. A literary contest, open to the entire student body, was conducted in the spring, and prizes were awarded at Honor Chapel.

Muriel Knudsen served as president this year; Maryann Satterlee, vice-president; and Carol Ronchetto, secretary-treasurer. Sponsor and adviser of the group was Miss Dorothy Burrows.

A. C. E. Members Explore Problems of Childhood Education

Vivian Lynch has served as president of the MacMurray College Association for Childhood Education for 1949-50. This organization, which is a branch of the national A.C.E., is made up of kindergarten-primary majors and others interested in the advancement of progressive childhood education. The first meeting of the year was an open house held in October. Also in October, Char Rahn, Jean Griswold, and Sue Myers represented MacMurray at the state A.C.E. meeting in Champaign. On December 12 the club had its annual Christmas party, to which each member brought a gift for a blind child. An open meeting was conducted on February 6, at which time there was a demonstration by the Blind School. Mary Merkley was chairman of the banquet, February 10, at the Dunlap Hotel. The members sponsored their annual kindergarten operetta on March 10, under the chairmanship of Char Rahn.

Aiding Vivian during the year were vice-president, Dorothea Nichols; secretary, Allison Mahan; and treasurer, Sue Myers. The sponsor of the association is Miss Ellen Nudd.

Home Economics Club Discusses Different Aspects of Home-Making

Seated in front: Margaret Street, Miss Giddings

The program for the Home Economics Club this year has aimed toward a better understanding of foreign countries. Dr. Elsa P. Kimball spoke to the group about the American College for Women in Constantinople, where she taught for a number of years, and Carol de la Paumeliere gave an address on her native country, France. In December the club members collected clothing to be taken to the welfare bureau in Jacksonville and sent a package through CARE to a nursery in France. Their annual baked bean supper was held in February.

The MacMurray Home Economics Club, composed of majors and others interested in that field, is a filiated with both the State and American Home Economics Associations. This year's officers are: president, Peg Street; vice-president, Ann Roth; secretary, Mary Helen Robison; treasurer, Barbara Buchholz; and publicity chairman, Mary Million. Miss Mate L. Giddings is club adviser.

Margaret Street, president

The Tironian Club, an organization for future "White Collar Girls," has as its dual purpose promoting interest in the business world and encouraging a cordial spirit among its members. The calendar of events for this year included a "Come As You Are" party, a trip to St. Louis to visit an insurance company and the Federal Reserve Bank, and its annual spring banquet.

Organized in 1926, the Tironians have made constant progress in membership and in activities. This year Claudia Preston has served as president; Pat Ryner, vice-president; and Virginia McNeil, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Ralph Wilson is sponsor of the club.

Charmaine Evans, president

This year, under the leadership of Charmaine Evans, president, the International Relations Club has made a conscious attempt to develop better understanding and appreciation of world affairs among its members.

For the first time, membership was opened to freshmen. A new project, "The Whirlagram," which was distributed each week in the dining hall, brought up-to-the-minute news in digest form directly to the students; the club also cooperated with WMMC and the "Greetings" in disseminating information of current events. Informal discussions with the various lecturers were held during the season under the auspices of I.R.C. Programs this year have included the films, "Hungry Minds," and "Declaration of Human Rights," and a talk by Dr. Gamper on her summer in Europe. The club also sponsored the movie, "The Roosevelt Story," presented at a downtown theater.

The president had as her council Kathy Buchholz, vice-president; Jean Hornbeck, secretary-treasurer; Muriel Knudsen, program chairman; Jo Shade, newscaster; Joyce Cahill, publicity chairman; and Dr. Sheppard, sponsor.

Marjorie Doolin and Dr. Elsa Kimball, president and sponsor of the club

MacMurray's "town girls," who have been organized as the Jacksonville Club since 1914, act as intermediaries between the resident students of the college and the citizens of Jacksonville. Unity and friendly relations were promoted among the members by a varied program of activities, such as an initiation party for the new freshmen last fall, and a pot-luck supper at least once a month. At their Christmas party, the girls had as their guests Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Cunningham, and Dr. and Mrs. McClelland. Jerrie Wood was chairman of the club's formal dance, "Isle in the Sky," which was held in the Main Social Room January 28. Boots Brennan and his band provided the music.

Marjorie Doolin served as president this year. Other officers were: Esther Wilding, vice-president; Janet Townsley, secretary; Carmen Covey, treasurer; Jeanette Lane, program chairman; Ruth Schildman, keeper of the archives; and Nancy Carver, publicity chairman. Dr. Elsa Kimball is sponsor.

"For good or for better We take thee Oh Belles Lettres . . ."

With plans for next year's centennial celebration already in the making, the members of Belles Lettres have exemplified their motto, "Here we prepare ourselves for an active life." First semester rushees were entertained by "Schmoo Adventures" and "Dogpatch Daze," supervised by Pat Ryner, rush captain. Ann Mellinger directed the pledges in their activities, which included a pledge party, "King Arthur's Court," until initiation on November 10.

On November 9 Belles Lettres celebrated its seventieth wedding anniversary with the Sigma Pi's of Illinois College. The evening before the Senior Ball, the girls and their dates serenaded the dorms. Sue Kaldahl conducted rushing second semester, choosing as her theme "Off to the Races." Jane Knetzer was pledge captain for the new group. Gamma Delta Society of Illinois College were guests at the meeting February 27. Mary Million acted as chairman for the Alumnae Coffee, held March 17. The year's activities were brought to a close with the annual spring banquet on May 26.

Officers for this year were as follows: Barbara Griffith, president; Marian Lair, vice-president; Marion Veath, corresponding secretary; Lois Chin, recording secretary; Marjorie Morrison, treasurer; Jeanne Berwick, program chairman; Jane Knetzer, keeper of the archives. Marion Veath is Centennial Chairman.

"Lambda, Lambda Alpha Chi you're the one we glorify."

Lambda Alpha Chi, organized on Founders' Day, 1912, is the youngest upper-class society. Yet the members have never lost sight of their motto, "Let us sing of somewhat nobler things, let us strike a higher strain." As do their sister societies, the Lambdas strive to increase interest, fun, and good fellowship among their members and in the college.

This year Eva Jo Schmidt presided over the group, aided by Margaret Harvey, vice-president; Marjorie Engquist, recording secretary; Claudia Preston, corresponding secretary; Mary Day, treasurer; and Marianne Trostle, keeper of the archives. For its rush parties the first semester the society chose the themes, "The Gilded Cage" and "The Gilded Stage." Barbara Bennett and Rosalind Troncin were rush captains. A cabin party was held October 15, and the members went Christmas caroling at the local hospitals December 12. Marianne Trostle, Mary Day and Marge Engquist were in charge of the redecoration of Lambda Hall. Second semester found Martha Lucas and Charlyne Koch making plans for rushing. Lambda also sponsored, during the year, a Girl Scout Troop in Jacksonville, under the leadership of Elvira Metzdorf and Marjorie Engquist.

"Here's to the colors The blue and the blue Here's to you, Phi Nu..."

Maggie Porter, Phi Nu president

Activities began for the Phi Nus this year with fall rushing, planned by rush captains Sue Skinner and Grace Sitter. "A Tour of New York" was conducted at the P.E. cabin on September 30, and rushees were treated to an "Evening at the Stork Club" October 1. Pledges entertained actives in Jane Smoker on November 7, suffered through "Hell Days," and were formally initiated November 10. Fran Mahan and Kitty Lockridge combined their efforts as pledge mothers to the group. Marg Leaverton planned the Christmas party, December 12. An alumnae card party was held January 28, with Julie Modine in charge, and the alumnae were again entertained at a coffee March 25. Second semester rushing was supervised by Ann Hunding, who chose a winter scene as her theme. The Phi Nus continued their project of collecting clothes for the junior and senior high school children of Jacksonville. The year closed with the annual spring banquet.

Margaret Porter was president of the "girls of the blue and blue." Vice-president was Gerry Brown; recording secretary, Jackie Hicks; treasurer, Betty Cawrse; and corresponding secretary, Pat Green.

"She's a real Theta girl . . ."

"Curtain Time" was the recurrent theme in Theta's rush parties this year. The stage was set in September at the open house, with "South Pacific" being featured. "Kiss Me Kate," presented at the P.E. cabin, was followed by "Miss Liberty" at the Congregational Church. Ruth Hadraba was director first semester. For the second semester production, February 11, Peg Street chose "Red Shoes."

At the Christmas party in December the Thetas wrapped packages for the Y.W.C.A. to give to needy children. The week-end of the Junior Prom found the members and their dates at a hot dog roast. Theta alumnae were feted at a coffee on February 17, planned by Edys Morrow, and the annual banquet was held in May.

Mary Ellen Potter guided the group in their activities this year. Joan Shade served as vice-president; Mary Helen Wright and Barbara Dixon were recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Peg Poor acted as treasurer.

Harmony, cooperation, and mutual support are achieved among the four upper-class societies by the Inter-Society Council. This group, composed of the president, vice-president, and a junior representative for each society, acts as co-ordinator and regulator of society activities; it is a clearing house for common problems. Besides being a governing body for all major society functions, rushing, alumnae coffees, spring banquets, and general financial affairs, the Council sponsors an inter-society breakfast and an open meeting in the spring.

Officers for this year include Margaret Porter, of Phi Nu, president, and Marian Lair, of Belles Lettres, secretary-treasurer.

Alpha Kappa Sigma Looks

Back on Eventful Year

Under the sponsorship of Mary Levi, Alpha Kappa Sigma fulfilled its goal of promoting loyalty, friendship and service among the members. The first activity of the year was election of officers. Carey Shands was chosen president; Georgia Willcox, vice-president; Nancee Vine, secretary, Paula Miller, treasurer; and Darlene Barcal, recorder. The society's one-act play was "May Moon," with Bebe Kay Lusher as director. On October 21, the members had a splash party; and on November 14, there was initiation of officers. Second semester the members gave a faculty coffee, had a cabin party, attended R.A. square dancing, and went to another splash party. When warm weather came, a roller skating party and a picnic at Nichol's Park afforded different diversions.

Beverly Davis Guides Delta Theta Nu

Beverly Davis and Joyce Cahill, president and sponsor

Beverly Davis was chosen to lead Delta Theta Nu during the year. She was assisted by Jeanne Merritt, vice-president; Paula Limerick, secretary; Dolores Eaton, treasurer; and Dorothea Crow, recorder. Marilyn Miles directed the society's one-act play, "Three Pills in a Bottle," for which three first prizes were awarded: for advertising, for the best poster, and for the most tickets sold. After the play, the society members entertained Marilyn with a party in the Main Social Room. A faculty coffee and a cabin party were among the second semester activities. Joyce Cahill was sponsor of the group.

One-Act Play Contest

Epsilon Kappa Phi began its activities for the year by electing as its officers Andrea Svoboda, president; Joyce Correll, vice-president; Betty Berg, secretary; Nancy Juraska, treasurer; and Joanne Beasley, recorder. Peggy Street was sponsor. For the second time in three years, Epsilon Kappa Phi won first place in the one-act play contest. Different members also received individual awards for this year's play, "Romanza," which was directed by Marilyn McGinnis. The society had a cabin party in December and entertained the faculty at a coffee in the spring.

Kappa Sigma Theta Society Enjoys Varied Activities

Marjorie Morrison and Pat Holle, sponsor and president

Pat Holle led the members of Kappa Sigma Theta in a year of different extra-curricular activities. On December 5, the officers were initiated in a candlelight ceremony in Kathryn Hall. The society's oneact play was "The Feast of the Barking Women," directed by Muriel Knudsen. During Heart Sister Week, the members sold Valentine tickets, as a money-making project. Folk dancing during R.A. hours, a cabin party, a trip to New Salem, a splash party, attendance at church as a group, and a "hard times" party all served to develop loyalty, friendship, and service among the members. The president was aided by vice-president, Betty Porter; treasurer, Nancy Lee; and recorder, Jackie Willcox. The sponsor of Kappa Sigma Theta for this year was Marjorie Morrison.

Phi Kappa Delta Offers

Fun, Fellowship

Billie Nadeau and Shirley Newsome, sponsor and president

Phi Kappa Delta ushered in a year of varied activities with the selection of officers. Shirley Newsome was elected by her society sisters to serve as president, and Connie Lindgren led the group second semester. Assistants in planning the program were the vice-president, Pat Kowalski; secretary, Elizabeth Kane; treasurer, Lorraine Matuschek; and recorder, Mary Ann DuBois. For her performance in the society one-act, "Death Sends for the Doctor," Cathy Berg was given an acting award. Connie Stokes was the director of the play. Members were given opportunities to get acquainted through table parties, church attendance as a group, a canasta party and a cabin party. On April 21, the society was hostess at an annual coffee for members of the faculty. Billie Nadeau served as sponsor of Phi Kappa Delta this year.

Splash Parties, Trips Help Students Get Better Acquainted

Marion Veath, sponsor of Phi Tau Epsilon, helped the members to get better acquainted with a gettogether meeting early in the fall. In November the following officers were installed in a candlelight ceremony: Sue Schulze, president; Beverly Schulz, vice-president; Lois Fauerbach, secretary; Dolores Kctsiakos, treasurer; and Alice Woodley, recorder. The society's one-act play, "The Knife," was directed by Esther Wilding. Two cabin parties, a breakfast at the Dunlap, a splash party, a trip to New Salem, a movie party, and a faculty coffee all added up to a busy year for the Phi Taus.

Their Songs Bring Music to Our Hearts

Margaret Harvey and Mr. Busche, president and director

Many of the activities of the MacMurray College Choir have become traditional, such as the weekly chapel music, Christmas and Easter vespers, and songs at dedication services, Thanksgiving and "Club 13." It had as its guest performers at the formal concert, March 3, the Wabash Men's Choir, and presented in return a concert at Wabash College, March 10. A concert was held April 28 at the Springfield M. E. Church. The annual concert tour, to Des Moines, Iowa, was conducted May 5-7.

Officers this year were as follows: Margaret Harvey, president; Dorothea Nichols, vice-president; Edys Morrow, secretary; Pat Miller, treasurer; Kay C. Keefer, publicity; Pat Campbell, robe mistress; Rosemary Stark, librarian; and Barbara Dixon, manager. Mr. Henry Busche is director.

Opportunities for Choral Singing Offered to Members of Madrigal

The Madrigal Club, primarily but not exclusively a freshman choir, is one of the major musical organizations on campus. It collaborates with the College Choir for Christmas and Easter vespers and presents a concert for "Dad's Day." Mr. Cleeland is director of the group. The president is Lois Brock; Betty Porter, vice-president; Louise Munger, publicity chairman; Georgianna Willcox and Jane Lawrence, librarians. Students are offered experience in group singing and choral work, for personal pleasure as well as public performance.

Besides the concerts and festivals presented on campus, the MacMurray College Band is in frequent demand for civic performances, offering members opportunity to study and perform the best in musical literature.

The members have entertained both on the campus and in the city. On October 13 they had a sing for the college and on Thanksgiving Day provided the music for the Army-Navy hockey game. On special days their services are especially in demand. They gave a concert on Dad's Day and the evening previous, also collaborated with the Madrigal Club for the annual formal concert. On October 19 they gave a concert at the Jacksonville State Hospital and on December 11 played on the Square near Santa's house, for the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce.

Sue LaPierre was president for this year. Other officers were: secretary, Roz Troncin, first semester; Jean Hornbeck, second semester; publicity, Marjorie Tubbs, librarians, Mary Jean Jackson and Rosemary O'Heren. Patti Lincoln was room chairman first semester; Alice Post served second semester. Joan Kline was freshman representative. Mr. Henry Busche, director, was assisted by Charlyne Koch.

HARDTNER GYMNASIUM

Charlene Holle Receives Rearick Trophy

Charlene Holle was awarded the Elizabeth Rearick Trophy in R.A. in May. This trophy is presented in recognition of outstanding sportsmanship as well as skill.

Char, a physical education major from Jacksonville, Illinois, has played on the Army hockey team since her sophomore year, and she has also played on the Army basketball team. She is president of the Badminton Club this year, and she won a place on this year's hockey varsity team. She is also a member of Belles Lettres.

Dr. Rearick presented the trophy to this most deserving senior.

MacMurray's recreational activities are planned and supervised by the Recreational Association. The R. A. Board, composed of the officers, class representatives, and sponsor, determines the policies of the organization and provides the equipment used for both team and individual sports. The Council, which is headed by the vice-president, includes the sports managers appointed by the Board. It is the duty of the Council to plan and coordinate the various team and individual sports which the association sponsors.

P. E. Club Presents Club 13, Operate Cabin for Enjoyment of All

The P.E. Club, an organization for students majoring or minoring in Health and Physical Education, endeavors to create better cooperative spirit, professionally and socially, among women primarily interested in the same activities. Its major functions are the presentation of Club 13 in November and the upkeep of the P.E. cabin, which is owned and operated by the club for the enjoyment of the entire student body. Club 13, initiated in 1943 to earn money for the re-decoration of the cabin, has since become an annual event. This year's chairman was Sue Kaldahl.

On December 17 the P.E. Club became one of the first clubs to be issued a National Charter by the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, a national professional association. Anna Geisel presided over the group this year; Nita Krueger served as vice-president; Dot Booth was secretary-treasurer; and the cabin chairman was Dot Fisher. Miss McCue was faculty adviser.

Varsity hockey is an honorary team made up of the best players from the Army and Navy teams. There is no limit to the number of members, as the group is honorary and the team does not play any games. These girls, chosen for their playing ability and sportsmanship, are voted to membership by the captains of the class, Army and Navy teams. Miss Rearick, Miss Meyer and the graduate students aid the committee through suggestions, but the final decision and vote is made by the team captains.

This year there were six seniors selected to receive this honor: Dot Booth, Anne Geisel, Char Holle, Peg Jenner, Char Rahn, and Betsy Simms. Juniors chosen were: Dona Gesell, Sue Kaldahl, Joan Neuberger, and Grace Sitter. From the sophomore class were Marie Feller, Nancy Hoerger, Carolyn Neary, and Kay Yonkee. One freshman, Pat Holle, was selected.

This year's traditional Army-Navy game on Thanksgiving Day ended in a 1-1 tie.

Following the basketball tournament, those players who had displayed outstanding ability and sportsmanship during the season were named to the varsity basketball team. This is an honorary organization, corresponding to Varsity Hockey. The selection of this all-school varsity squad is the formal end of the basketball season. Those elected to the 1948-49 varsity basketball team were: Dot Booth, Marie Feller, Carolyn Neary, Jo DeReus, Marty Fitzgerald, Sue Kaldahl, Grace Sitter, Nancy Hoerger, and B. J. Klove.

The 1948-49 Army-Navy teams are pictured since the 1949-50 teams were named too late for publication. This year's teams will be pictured in next year's book.

Horse Shows, Breakfast Rídes Sponsored by Ríding Club

The members of MacMounties are a selected group of student riders who have organized to promote interest in riding and to offer opportunities for members to learn more of the equestrian art. A riding team show, presented last fall by the club members, was judged by a former instructor, Mrs. Ryan. On April 21 there was the annual intercollegiate meet with Maryville. And a year of breakfast rides, cabin parties, and team showings was ended with the May Day Horse Show this spring. Nita Krueger led the girls through a successful year; she was assisted by Joan Bevirt, vice-president; Joyce Trimmer, secretary; Sue Kaldahl, treasurer; and Jean Taylor, team manager.

Formed in the spring of 1942, the Macquatics Club is now one of the major athletic organizations on campus. Try-outs are held twice a year for all students with skill and interest in swimming, diving, and life-saving. Sue Skinner was elected president this year. She was assisted by Peg Jenner, vice-president; Peg Poor, secretary; Mary Day, treasurer, Dixine Verstegen, R. A. representative; and Helen Myller, publicity chairman.

Several records were broken at the swimming meet held in Hardtner Gym on December 4, when the Macquatics Club was host to Washington University of St. Louis, Bradley University of Peoria, and Monticello College of Alton. Ann Ross, swimming and diving champion, also performed on that day. On December 11, a group from the club attended a swimming symposium in St. Louis. Barbara Griffith was chosen as chairman of the annual Dads' Day Water Show, "Mist O' Fragrance," held March 27-30.
